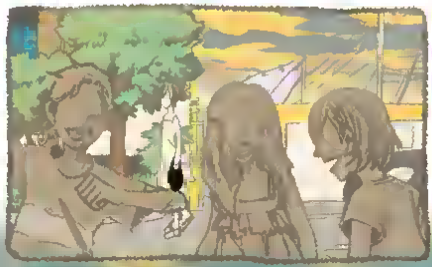
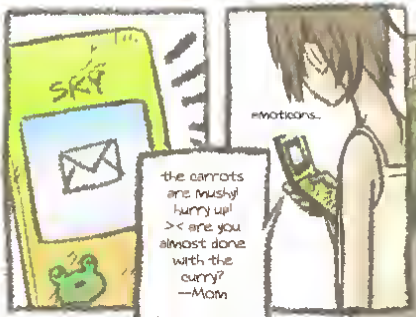
recently I keep on thinking something strange.
For example,
I don't remember when it started but,
Grand vil
The time around me seems to have stopped.
That's not all.



(Of course it's going to be impossible.)

The Curry and the Sunset



Ek
Mom, I thought today's menu was going to be curry, not carrot soup well we had to get rid of the carrots somehow...
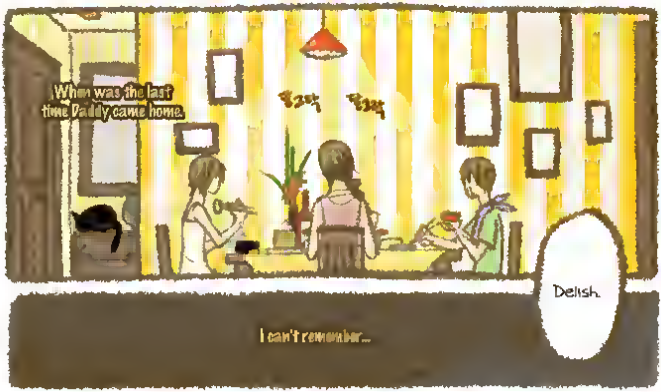
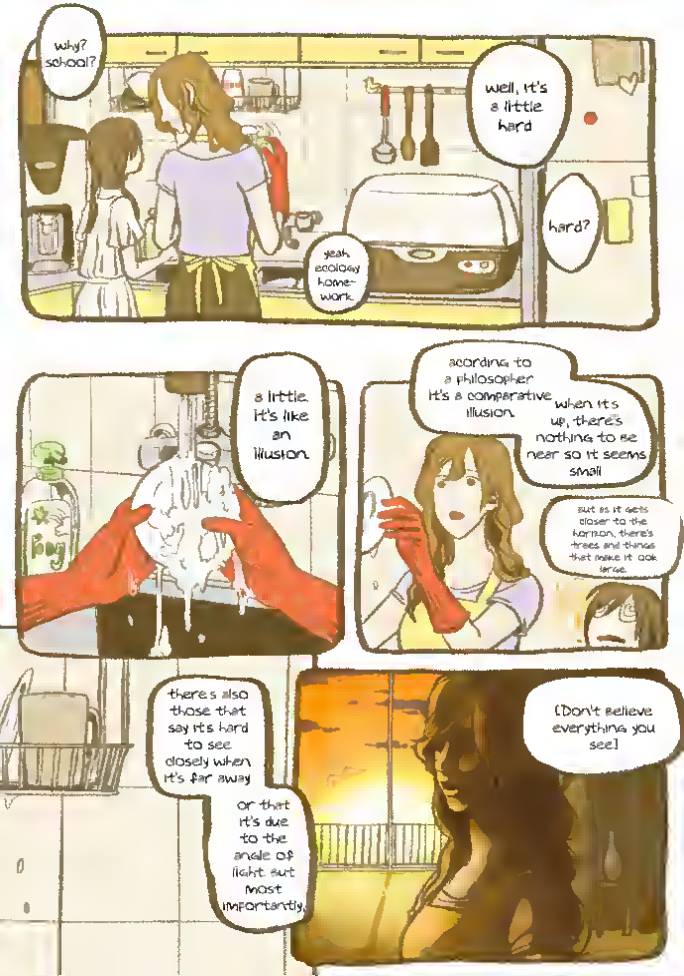
thanks for the food.
I get it! Nuna, you did this!
Delish~
Shush. If you're loud while eating, your Daddy will be even later coming home.
Tch
...Dilim



When was the last time Daddy came home.
Yum Yum
Delish.
I can't remember...

Mommy
why's the sun much bigger at night?



why? school?
yeah, ecology homework
well, it's a little hard hard?
a little. it's like an illusion
according to a philosopher it's a comparative illusion when it's up, there's nothing to be near so it seems small but as it gets closer to the horizon, there's trees and things that make it look large.
there's also those that say it's hard to see closely when it's far away or that it's due to the angle of light but most importantly, [Don't believe everything you see]

I can't believe this. I was I asleep until dawn again?
Will I have to go to the hospital?
finally you're up?
were out GO get curry
curry again?
- Nowadays the only things in my life are the setting sun, large vegetables, and curry with meat that seems to be carrot soup.
hello..
It's way too strange.
Looking at the setting sun, I feel like danger is going against me...

eh?
Sealed. Please use the front gates!

there are some people in this world that repeat a certain day of their lives over and over again.
Despite decades ago, you stepped into a time loop and you've been reliving your last day over and over.
hey, you.
did you not know that the place there was no-enter?
CAW! no, huh?
And then after you started the loop, the road always stopped and a keepout sign was made.
I mean, after a girl went missing...

I thought it was weird. Waking up to see the sunset every day. The same daily life.
Smell of curry whenever I get home.
And. When was the last time I saw the sun rise?
